Center School Dedicates American Heritage Hall

On Monday, Feb. 17, Greenbelt Center School students and faculty dedicated their American Heritage Hall. Theodore Miazga, county attorney, gave the keynote speech. The school's glee club, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Cook, sang a medley of patriotic songs.

The hall has three sets of bulletin boards on its walls, each with a selected theme. The main and center set of boards is dedicated to "Famous Statesmen", the theme for the second set is "Outstanding Americans," the third set is dedicated to "Historical Events."

The Great Seal of the United States is displayed above the center of the main bulletin board, and over each end are two gold eagles. The main exhibit, however, is a unique set of flags of the United States beginning with the revolutionary flags and progressing to the 50-star flag. Since these flags were not available commercially, they had to be custom-made by a flag manufacturer.

At the east end of the hall are hung pictures of historical sites in America, and at the west end of the hall are displayed 14 commemorative battles in American history.

The purpose of American Heritage Hall is to create in our students an awareness and understanding of the ideals and principles that have evolved, and that are perpetuated by the commemorative occasions celebrated during the school year. The materials exhibited will be changed each month, when the teachers receive from the office a list of commemorative dates for the month. This list will be read and discussed with the class, and then posted on the classroom bulletin board. A student can voluntarily select one of the commemorative dates and do a research project.

It is hoped that from this experience our students will be able to discuss intelligently historical occasions and individuals who have contributed to or influenced in some way the progress and development of our country.

Fred Cardano, Principal of Center School, sponsored the project, did the research and made all the community contacts necessary for its realization.

City Fights Planners Of New Community

The Prince Georges Planning Board will continue their discussions on the 38 petitions for the zoning of the undeveloped land between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and the Goddard Space Center on Wednesday, Mar. 4 at 10 a.m. in Silver Spring.

On Feb. 19, the planning board heard Greenbelt City Councilman Clifford Simonson and City Manager, James K. Giese protest proposals for high density development within the city boundaries. Simonson pointed out the imbalance in having a community of 12,000 apartment units and only 500 single family units. He said he felt such a high number of apartment units in this area unnecessary.

Giese pointed out to the Board that the new planned community ignored the city limits of Greenbelt—half in and half out. Since the land within the city limits is planned for high density apartments, most of the residents in the new community would be living in Greenbelt, while most of the services, as now planned, such as schools, library, youth center, would be physically located outside the city limits.

Principal Cardano points out some of the special revolutionary flags made for the New Heritage Hall in the Center School.

New Municipal Building Opens; City Telephone Number Changed

The Greenbelt City Offices will move into their new quarters at the new intersection of Southway and Crescent rd. on Friday, March 6. The police dept. section of the new municipal office building will be open Saturday and the city offices will be open for business the following Monday, March 7. An important change to note is the new telephone number of the city offices — 474-8000. The police dept. will retain the old number 474-5454.

Bresler Development Plans Heard at Twin Pines Mtg.

Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association, at its annual meeting Tuesday night, heard Charles Bresler give his views on the future of Greenbelt. Mr. Bresler is the owner of 95% (approximately 600 acres) of the undeveloped land in Greenbelt, and is presently constructing the Boxwood, Charlestown, and Lakeside developments.

Mr. Bresler described Greenbelt as the future metropolis of Prince Georges County. The developments presently under construction, together with Springhill Lake, will mean more schools are necessary; presently planned are an elementary school near Boxwood, one on Greenbelt Road near the Charlestown development, and a senior high school in the present sanitary land fill area on Northway extended. A motel is projected for the Greenbelt Road - Capital Beltway area to service visitors to the Regional Park, and a nursing home is being considered near the Armory. He described a light industrial complex to be built next to the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, to house companies associated with NASA. The location of the complex will be near one or more projected overpasses over the parkway, about two miles north of the present Glendale road overpass.

If his own 600 acres were developed for single family dwellings, Mr. Bresler stated, at the county average of four units per acre, this would mean about 10,000 more residents to service, which would increase the tax rate beyond a reasonable amount. He gave this as an argument for commercial and multiple family developments.

In response to a question from the floor, concerning the future of the Greenbelt Lake Park, he said that the elementary school and the playground contemplated by the School Board for the Boxwood area would take up some of the land, but that the rest would probably remain as parkland.

North End School PTA

The North End School PTA will meet Tuesday, March 3 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mr. Thomas Gwynn of the Board of Education will speak on the planned expansion of the schools in Greenbelt, to take care of future population growth.

Children's Section Featured In New Regional Library

Children can look forward to having a spacious and brightly decorated department of their own when the first regional library in Prince George's County Memorial Library system opens March 2 at 6530 Adelphi Road, Hyattsville.

Miss Elizabeth H. Gross, regional librarian, said the Boys and Girls Department has a capacity of 15,000 books, 1,000 recordings, and reading areas specially equipped with small tables and chairs for the very young and attractive reading tables and chairs for older boys and girls. In addition there is a special program room, use of which is for story hours and other activities, and a special collection room housing representative books in the field of children's literature for use by parents and teachers.

There will be a preschool story hour once a week later this spring, and there will be regular story hours for youngsters in the six to ten age bracket after school hours. Miss Mathews who will be in charge of the library would like to develop a book discussion group for older boys and girls.

The current estimate of the total construction cost is $117,500 - up from the contract estimate of $113,635 by the Bishop Construction Co. of Baltimore. Unexpected utility relocation accounted for $3400 of the difference. Architects for the building are Walton and Madden of Mt. Rainier. George Brunatti, 32 Lakeside, was the firm's principle architect for the project.

There are still several month's work to be done. Still to come are such items as a new council table, seating for council room, desks and committee room tables and new flag poles.

New Telephones

The new telephone system gives separate numbers to the city offices, the city manager, police dept. and warehouse. Elimination of the switchboard and the increased number of lines will add greater flexibility of service according to city manager James K. Giese.

The Greenbelt committee system was recognized in the inclusion of committee rooms in the new building. City manager Giese reports that three separate committee meetings can now be held simultaneously — in the past the manager's own office has frequently doubled as the only available committee room.

The City Council has been discussing the formal dedication ceremony for the new municipal building, expected to be held sometime in May. A Dedication Committee is expected to include past mayors and city councilmen.

The completion of the municipal office building now finishes up the building program begun in 1959 which has seen construction of a Youth Center building and a new Fire House.

Local Businessmen Take New Name

At a regular meeting held on Tuesday, February 18, 1964, the Greenbelt Businessmen's Association voted unanimously to change its name to the Greenbelt Shopping Center Association. The decision was made in order to pin-point more definitely the location of the business establishments involved.

The recent presentation of foreign art films at the Greenbelt Theater, sponsored by the GSCA and the local Arts and Crafts Guild, was well attended, reported Jim Casels, chairman for the film committee. Plans have been tentatively set to present more films sometime this spring.

Henry Davis was appointed chairman of the Second Annual Antique Car show which will be presented in Greenbelt on Sunday, April 26.

The Association is meeting with City Manager James Giese and members of City Council on Thursday, February 27, to present certain recommendations which the businessmen feel will benefit the city of Greenbelt.

NOTICE OF MOVING

The City Offices will be closed on Friday, March 6, 1964, in order that office furnishings can be moved to the new Municipal Building at 25 Crescent Road (Crescent and Southway). After that date all City Council meetings, administrative office and police department activities will be located in the new building.

"Mr. Festival"

There have been few deaths in recent years which have saddened the community more than the loss of Eli Don Bullian. Not only has he been a resident of Greenbelt since its beginning, active in the Lions Club, the Izaak Walton League, the Boys Club and other local organizations, but he conceived the annual Greenbelt Labor Day Festival and was its mainspring since its inception several years ago.

In fact, Eli Don Bullian has been so identified with promoting and managing the Greenbelt Festival that many are wondering if it can continue without him. We admit that we can think of no one offhand that can match his dynamic drive and dedication to the Festival, which has earned so much money for youth activities over the years. Planning meticulously, cajoling, bouncing around the Center and overwhelming individuals and civic groups with his infectious enthusiasm for the annual event, he made the Festival his personal contribution to the community.

Maybe it will take two or three hard-working citizens to accomplish what Eli Don Bullian did, but we feel that there could be no more fitting memorial to a man who has given so much to his fellow citizens so selflessly than to continue the Festival. It would be an opportunity to present some deserving youngster the Eli Don Bullian Medal for an outstanding endeavor.

Mortgage Tips

To the Editor:

Your article in the February 20 issue "Tips on Mortgage Loans" is hardly a service to your readers as it contains statements which might lead your readers to lose considerable money. Your statement "While the conventional mortgage loan user may have the advantage, he'll have to pay a 6 to 6½% yearly interest rate with a down payment of 20% to 25%" might lead some of your readers into falling into the hands of the few profiteers who charge these rates. Actually your readers may easily obtain a 5½% rate with 20% down, a 5¼% rate with 25% down, and a 5% rate with 33½% down.

Your statement "Don't overlook closing or settlement costs, which may cost you an additional 3 or 4% in cash of the total price" would also lead your readers into the hands of the wrong people. Actually, closing costs should not cost more than 2 to 2½% of the mortgage price (not the total price). All homeowners must pay taxes and insurance and these are not considered closing costs.

Your statement "A difference between 5¼% and 6¼% annual rates can put $100 yearly in your pocket on a $10,000 mortgage" is likewise misleading. Actually the difference is about $65 per year for the average 20 or 25 year mortgage since the principal is constantly decreasing. You would save $100 yearly only if the $10,000 mortgage principal never declined during the term of the mortgage and this is obviously contradictory.

A responsible newspaper should verify its information before passing it on to its readers as tips.

Sentry Safety Council

Hot Cold, Flu Facts!

Statistics prove about 50 percent of the entire population suffers some sort of respiratory ailment between September and April of each year. No drug will cure flu or the more than 100 varieties of colds! These contagious diseases are caused by viruses passed from person to person. In an effort to reduce ailments Americans suffer each year, the Sentry Safety Council of Sentry Insurance companies has compiled these health tips:

- Avoid people with colds or flu.
 - Wash hands often, always before eating. Teach children to keep fingers out of mouth.
 - Don't cheat on sleep.
 - Eat well-balanced meals.
 - Drink plenty of liquids to tone up system, help elimination.
 - Guard against getting chilled.
 - Exercise sensibly. Don't overdo shoveling snow, or in a gym.
 - When you have a cold, stay home and rest the first day.
 - Always cover your mouth when sneezing or coughing. A sneeze can blast thousands of germ-laden droplets 12 feet.
 - Use disposable tissues and place in waste containers.
 - Blow your nose lightly warns the Sentry Safety Council. Forcing spreads infection.
 - Soap is an effective germ killer. Keep your home clean.
 - Don't rely solely on home remedies. Indiscriminate use of drugs can hide early warning signals of serious illness. Aspirin and approved nose drops give relief. Call your doctor if fever, chills or headache persists more than 24 hours.
- Finally, the Sentry Safety Council says be thoughtful of others by keeping your germs to yourself and you will guard your own health... thoughtfulness is contagious, too!

For the more cerebrally inclined, bridge lessons will soon begin at the Community Center. Applications for the lessons can be picked up at the rental office next week.

The Greenbelt Town and Country School has moved from the Community Center to its permanent home across the street at 6237 Springhill Drive. The school offers nursery, pre-kindergarten, and kindergarten training, as well as before and after school care. For further information, call Mrs. Hilda Handy at 474-5114.

Marsh Kaplan, the affable and energetic president of the Springhill Lake Citizens Association, reminds all members that elections for the forthcoming year's officers will be held next Wednesday, Mar. 4 at the Community Center. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. If you can't attend, but wish to vote, you can give your written vote to someone who is attending. For further information about the elections, absentee voting, or the Association in general, call Marsh Kaplan at 474-8053.

Due to the recent efforts of the Citizens Association the Springhill Lake management has promised to give us better lighting, especially in the parking areas and on the access road to the community, and also to build some sort of barrier around the lake to protect children. Our thanks to the Association and its officers.

GUIDE TO ZONING

- RPC - Planned Community
- R-30 - Garden-type apartments
- R-18 - Medium density apartments
- R-10 - High density apartments
- C-0 - Commercial office building
- C-1 - Local commercial

The map above shows the location of the rezoning requested by petitions filed by Charles Bresler and Theodore Serner. The curved line at the lower right represents the Baltimore-Washington Parkway.

These zoning petitions asked for 40 acres of commercial office buildings (behind 20-Ridge to 32-Ridge). Proceeding northward, the request included 28 acres of high-density walk-up apartments (R-10) plus 7 acres for neighborhood commercial development (C-1) off Northway extended. Then the density would taper off to 16 acres of row houses (R-18) and 109 acres of garden-type apartments (R-30) on Plateau extended. The land is now zoned RPC-Planned Community.
